

Elithion, Top Provider of Li-Ion Battery Management Solutions Announces the promotion of Steve Mayer to the position of Business Development Director

On line PR News - Jan 1, 2015 -Boulder, CO

Elithion is pleased to announce the promotion of Steve Mayer to the position of Business Development Director. In this role, Steve will continue to interface with key customers and drive the growth of Elithion's Battery Management System products across multiple markets. Steve will continue to be a member of Elithion's management team and a shareholder in the business.

For more information, please contact Elithion at <http://elithion.com/contact.php>.

Elithion has been designing and manufacturing Battery Management Systems (BMS), large Li-ion traction packs and battery modules for stationary battery installations since 2008. The Elithion team has comprehensive experience in electronics design as well as extensive expertise in validated and proven battery systems engineering working with large cell suppliers and integrating custom solutions. Worldwide client installations encompass the automotive, utility vehicle, marine, power utility and telecommunications industries.

